HEIDELBERG LAUREATE FORUM

Apply Now !

Online application: November 1, 2015 until February 3, 2016 (midnight at the date line)

The Heidelberg Laureate Forum (HLF) annually connects promising young researchers in mathematics and computer science with the top scientists in their fields. For one week in late summer, the Heidelberg Laureate Forum Foundation (HLFF) invites the recipients of the Abel Prize, Fields Medal, Nevanlinna Prize and ACM A.M. Turing Award to join 200 carefully selected young researchers. The HLF's focus is to provide an informal atmosphere where the most accomplished minds of mathematics and computer science thoroughly interact with the brightest minds of the next generation.

Who can apply?	• Undergraduates • PhD Candidates } in mathematics and computer science • Postdocs
Where can I apply?	Applications for this Forum can only be submitted via the online application tool! www.application.heidelberg-laureate-forum.org

What do I need?	• Required Documentation in all Categories:
	  CV; statement of purpose; awards, other scientific achievements (if any); letter of recommendation (1-3).
	• Additional Information from PhD Candidates:
	  Short summary of thesis topic; transcripts; publications (if any).
	• Additional Information from Postdocs:
	  Short summary of thesis topic; publications.

Selection	• International reviewers from mathematics and computer science. • Scientific Committee makes the final selection of 200 participants.
E-Mail Notification	All applicants will be notified via e-mail by the end of March / early April. Invitation: Successful applicants will be invited to participate at the HLF. If they cannot obtain financial support from their home institutions or agencies, they may request travel funding from the HLFF. Rejection: The number of places for the HLF is limited.
